

THE DAILY SERIAL HOME

By CYRUS T. BRADY

PAGES

NAMED TO FINANCE ARLINGTON HOTEL

Committee Chosen to Raise Funds for Erection of Large Structure.

A committee to work out a plan for refinancing the Arlington Hotel Company was named at a meeting of the stockholders in New York yesterday.

Gen. James A. Buchanan, Washington, Gen. Charles P. Taft, brother of the former President, and Eldridge E. Jordan were chosen.

Much had been hoped of the conference of the stockholders yesterday, which was attended by several Washingtonians, including the president of the hotel company, George Howard, and the fact that nothing was accomplished but the appointment of the committee was frankly a disappointment.

It is pointed out, however, that the naming of these men as the authorized committee is a long step in the right direction, for it gives to certain men the definite power of action, which hitherto has been lacking.

The company bought the lot for the hotel at a cost of $1,000,000, and spent about $250,000 in excavating. As a debt on this property, however, it owes $800,000 to the Equitable Life Assurance Society. The life insurance company was to loan $1,500,000 in all, but before more money could be obtained there was a proviso that $1,500,000 had to be put into a building.

With the receipt of $250,000 in stock subscriptions, it became impossible to dispose of any more, so that a note was put in bank for $800,000. Finally, this disposed of, two, work was stopped in June for lack of funds.

Petworth Church to Have First Wedding Tonight

Great joy in Petworth! Its Methodist Church—five years old—will tonight have its first wedding.

The bride will be Miss Frances Sarah Atkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Atkinson, and the bridegroom will be Leonard H. Sinclair, a Navy Department draftsman.

Petworth's Methodist Church "narrowly escaped" having two other weddings, but the church was undergoing repairs once, and the contracting couple changed their minds about the place the second time, so tonight's affair is the first time the church has really had a chance to host its wedding bells.

And moreover, this one is going through. That is the assurance of the bride's father, a local insurance agent. Then there is going to be a reception at 623 Park road northwest from 8:30 to 10 o'clock. Sure there's joy in Petworth.

"Patronage Caucus" Fails to Materialize

The "patronage caucus" of the House Democrats did not materialize last night owing to the absence of a quorum. More than a half hundred members waited around until after 9 o'clock p. m., and then Congress adjourned.

The patronage question is worrying both House members and employees, and another caucus is expected, if a quorum develops, next Friday afternoon.

Concerts Today

By the U. S. Soldiers' Home Band, from 4 to 5:30 p. m.

EMIL A. FENSTAD, Asst. Director. March, "Norebaga." Hall Overture, "Der Freischütz." Weber Intermezzo, "My Indian Maid." Federoff Selection, "Simon Boccanegra." Verdi Potpourri, "Songs of Scotland." Lampe Medley, "The Honey-moon." Schwartz Final, "Independencia." Hall "The Star-Spangled Banner."

By the U. S. Marine Band at Capitol, from 4:30 to 5 p. m.

WILLIAM H. SANTELMANN, Leader. March, "Under Freedom's Flag." Nowowiecki Overture, "Hienzi." Wagner Idyl, "Glow-worm." Lincke Xylophone solo, theme and variation, "America." Lewin Musician, Peter Lewin.

Scenes from "Thais." Massenet Music of Ballet, "Coppelia." Delibes Slavische Rhapsody. Friedmann "The Star-Spangled Banner."

THE PATRIOTS

The Story of Lee and the Lost Hope

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

The story opens in the trying days of '61, when the North and South were arrayed in deadly conflict and family ties were torn asunder over the grave question of slavery. In the midst of this crisis, William Lee, a young Virginian, becomes the affianced husband of Kathleen Kirkwood, whose sympathies are all with the North. When the North's army is sent away with no hope of ever claiming the North-ern girl as his bride.

Heavy-hearted, Philip goes back to Virginia and enlists in an infantry regiment. With a secret hope that there, perhaps, he may soon find success for his sorrow in a speedy bullet from the enemy's hands, he leaves his home and his guardian, Mr. Lee, in a deplorable state of health. The Judge has a bad attack, and believing that he is about to die, gives his son a last wish—to see his bride.

Although Philip is unable to obliterate the memory of his father's last wish, he consents to marry with Ariadne, and the ceremony is performed at the bedside of the old friend in Richmond and joins his regiment on the day of battle.

Philip's first battle is at Bull Run, where he is wounded. He is taken to a hospital, and his guardian, Mr. Lee, is given a passport, and he is sent to the hospital.

CHAPTER XXI.

A Brave Messenger.

THE officer dismounted from his horse, and turning him over to an orderly, withdrew a short distance from the group.

Men having dismounted and tightly bound the surviving guerrillas, also took advantage of the brief respite. The horses cropped the thick grass of the yard, the men threw themselves down under the trees, pipes were brought out and lighted, and one or two improved the shining hour by kindling fires. Soon the coffee—real coffee, since the Federal troops had plenty of it—was boiling.

They had traveled far and were very tired. They were a detachment of the First Cavalry and had been sent scouting on this branch road to see if the Confederates were moving up the river.

They must be checked on both roads until our army can get ahead of them. Longstreet's corps is marching tonight on the main road, the Potomac road. General Lee wishes General Stuart to dismount his men and fight behind entrenchments. On no account must they be checked on both roads.

Philip looked at the man in the uniform, who was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him.

"I don't like to see dem Yankee scoundrels lay a han on me! Dis heah useless nigger run lak a tarriar! He ain't no lef me lone wid nobody."

"When I las' seed you you was a mekine' time yo'self," returned Aza angrily.

"Yas, but I was gwine to des house an' you was 'way' from hit. Not was in de yard wen den cum, Miss Andy, or I'd been wid you."

"I was gwine fer reinforcements," retorted the man. "An' ef hit hadn't been for me, what you'd been 'Case I fished Marse Phil. I des know'd he was dar en I runned down to de big road. An' I fished him."

"You fished him?" cried Aunt Dessy contemptuously. "Was heafer fer most a hour?"

"I didn't had no horse," returned Aza, "but I was a-movin' des as fas as my legs could carry me. I fished him."

"You both did splendidly," said Ariadne, but Philip broke in impatiently.

"I want you to keep these men here a little while," he said under his breath to his wife. Ariadne nodded. She made a step toward the Union officer, who was surveying the scene with much amusement.

"Sir," she began, "I should like to show you some gratitude for my rescue. Won't you let my servants make out for you a good dinner?—only you will have to furnish it; we have none, but I think we have some cornbread and bacon which."

"Which will be very welcome, madam," said the young officer. "And I thank you kindly."

"Dessy, you and Aza see what you can do," said Ariadne. "How many men have you with you?"

"I started out with forty-eight, but I've lost ten by the way."

"I hab de cofee-bilin' in a jiffy of dey it g'it to me," said Aunt Dessy. "You, Aza go fished de bacon an' de corn-mash long. Lemme see ef you kin move as quick as you was a-movin' wen you was gwine to help. I reckon I'd rudder nab dat gait dan wen you was a-movin' back."

The Union officer, after this development, walked over to his first sergeant. Thereafter two of the troopers mounted and galloped down the road to look out for a possible enemy and prevent a retreat to the river.

Philip looked at the man in the uniform, who was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him.

Philip looked at the man in the uniform, who was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him.

Philip looked at the man in the uniform, who was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him.

Philip looked at the man in the uniform, who was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him.

THE PATRIOTS

The Story of Lee and the Lost Hope

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

The story opens in the trying days of '61, when the North and South were arrayed in deadly conflict and family ties were torn asunder over the grave question of slavery. In the midst of this crisis, William Lee, a young Virginian, becomes the affianced husband of Kathleen Kirkwood, whose sympathies are all with the North. When the North's army is sent away with no hope of ever claiming the North-ern girl as his bride.

Heavy-hearted, Philip goes back to Virginia and enlists in an infantry regiment. With a secret hope that there, perhaps, he may soon find success for his sorrow in a speedy bullet from the enemy's hands, he leaves his home and his guardian, Mr. Lee, in a deplorable state of health. The Judge has a bad attack, and believing that he is about to die, gives his son a last wish—to see his bride.

Although Philip is unable to obliterate the memory of his father's last wish, he consents to marry with Ariadne, and the ceremony is performed at the bedside of the old friend in Richmond and joins his regiment on the day of battle.

Philip's first battle is at Bull Run, where he is wounded. He is taken to a hospital, and his guardian, Mr. Lee, is given a passport, and he is sent to the hospital.

CHAPTER XXI.

A Brave Messenger.

THE officer dismounted from his horse, and turning him over to an orderly, withdrew a short distance from the group.

Men having dismounted and tightly bound the surviving guerrillas, also took advantage of the brief respite. The horses cropped the thick grass of the yard, the men threw themselves down under the trees, pipes were brought out and lighted, and one or two improved the shining hour by kindling fires. Soon the coffee—real coffee, since the Federal troops had plenty of it—was boiling.

They had traveled far and were very tired. They were a detachment of the First Cavalry and had been sent scouting on this branch road to see if the Confederates were moving up the river.

They must be checked on both roads until our army can get ahead of them. Longstreet's corps is marching tonight on the main road, the Potomac road. General Lee wishes General Stuart to dismount his men and fight behind entrenchments. On no account must they be checked on both roads.

Philip looked at the man in the uniform, who was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him.

"I don't like to see dem Yankee scoundrels lay a han on me! Dis heah useless nigger run lak a tarriar! He ain't no lef me lone wid nobody."

"When I las' seed you you was a mekine' time yo'self," returned Aza angrily.

"Yas, but I was gwine to des house an' you was 'way' from hit. Not was in de yard wen den cum, Miss Andy, or I'd been wid you."

"I was gwine fer reinforcements," retorted the man. "An' ef hit hadn't been for me, what you'd been 'Case I fished Marse Phil. I des know'd he was dar en I runned down to de big road. An' I fished him."

"You fished him?" cried Aunt Dessy contemptuously. "Was heafer fer most a hour?"

"I didn't had no horse," returned Aza, "but I was a-movin' des as fas as my legs could carry me. I fished him."

"You both did splendidly," said Ariadne, but Philip broke in impatiently.

"I want you to keep these men here a little while," he said under his breath to his wife. Ariadne nodded. She made a step toward the Union officer, who was surveying the scene with much amusement.

"Sir," she began, "I should like to show you some gratitude for my rescue. Won't you let my servants make out for you a good dinner?—only you will have to furnish it; we have none, but I think we have some cornbread and bacon which."

"Which will be very welcome, madam," said the young officer. "And I thank you kindly."

"Dessy, you and Aza see what you can do," said Ariadne. "How many men have you with you?"

"I started out with forty-eight, but I've lost ten by the way."

"I hab de cofee-bilin' in a jiffy of dey it g'it to me," said Aunt Dessy. "You, Aza go fished de bacon an' de corn-mash long. Lemme see ef you kin move as quick as you was a-movin' wen you was gwine to help. I reckon I'd rudder nab dat gait dan wen you was a-movin' back."

The Union officer, after this development, walked over to his first sergeant. Thereafter two of the troopers mounted and galloped down the road to look out for a possible enemy and prevent a retreat to the river.

Philip looked at the man in the uniform, who was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him.

Philip looked at the man in the uniform, who was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him.

Philip looked at the man in the uniform, who was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him.

Philip looked at the man in the uniform, who was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him. He was a young man, and he was looking at him.

GARRISON TALKS ON ISLANDS PLAN

Confers With New Governor General of Philippines Upon Program.

Army officers and members of Congress are awaiting with interest the return to Washington of Secretary of War Garrison, who has been making a tour of army posts in the South and West. Before starting on the trip it was announced that Mr. Garrison's object was to gather data upon which to recommend to Congress the elimination of a large number of useless but expensive posts which, in the past, were established solely for political reasons. At the time it was predicted that the Secretary would meet with opposition in Congress.

Secretary Garrison has been gone from Washington more than six weeks. When he reaches New York today he will have completed his itinerary and will have visited and personally inspected practically every army post west of the Ohio and south of the Potomac. Before returning to Washington he will probably take a brief vacation at Ashbury Park.

Today in New York he was to have met and conferred with Francis Burton Harrison, who was sworn in here yesterday as the new governor general of the Philippines. The object of the conference is to take up administrative matters connected with the islands, and to discuss changes which would make for a speedy realization of President Wilson's desire to bring about Philippine independence. The two will also discuss the recent report made by Dean Worcester on alleged peonage in the islands.

Shares With Workers. YONKERS, N. Y., Sept. 3.—A large carpet concern here distributed $2,000 in bonuses to 3,500 employees. In three years the company has given employees $34,000 of its profits.

District Veterans Boom John L. Smith

Members of the District camps of the United Spanish War Veterans have re-elected John L. Smith as their commander-in-chief. He was elected to the position at the annual convention of the veterans held during the national encampment in Buffalo, which began today.

Mr. Smith's election would bring the headquarters of the big organization to this city.

House & Herrmann

WHEN IN DOUBT BUY OF
COR. 7th & EYE (1) STREETS, N.W.

The Store Hours Now Are 8 to 6 Daily

The Latest Improved Sewing Machines

The mission of a Sewing Machine is the lifting of the labor of hand work. But it must do that work with unerring skill—and without discrimination—the most delicate, as well as the coarsest sewing.

That reliability is what brings these Machines into highest favor. All these types—"Vibrator," "Rotary," and "Automatic"—are most competent and capable.

Some of the features. Two-thread double-lock stitch, giving the same effect on both sides.

Auto Tension Release; Auto Belt Replacer; Improved Bobbin Wind—labor-saving features.

Full-size sewing head, with high arm, which provides the needed room to easily handle all fabrics.

All case-hardened steel, parts are ground and fitted. The Cases are Quartered-sawn Oak, highly polished.

The Prices Range From $15 to $55

Terms of payment arranged to your convenience.

Most Convenient Sewing Table

Every housewife knows the advantages of a Sewing Table—and planned as these are, they give the hostess everything at hand.

Made of selected oak; carefully finished; designed on lines that will be acceptable to the present equipment of the dining-room.

The Usual Price $12.00

Would Be $16

10% Special reduction from the already lowered Summer lines—REED, WILLOW, RATAN, and FIBRE CHAIRS, ROCKERS, SETTEES, and TABLES; LAWN SWINGS, COUCH HAMMOCKS, and REFRIGERATORS.

Illustrating the Belvidere.

$31.50

Exactly as Illustrated.

10% Special reduction from the already lowered Summer lines—REED, WILLOW, RATAN, and FIBRE CHAIRS, ROCKERS, SETTEES, and TABLES; LAWN SWINGS, COUCH HAMMOCKS, and REFRIGERATORS.

10% Special reduction from the already lowered Summer lines—REED, WILLOW, RATAN, and FIBRE CHAIRS, ROCKERS, SETTEES, and TABLES; LAWN SWINGS, COUCH HAMMOCKS, and REFRIGERATORS.

10% Special reduction from the already lowered Summer lines—REED, WILLOW, RATAN, and FIBRE CHAIRS, ROCKERS, SETTEES, and TABLES; LAWN SWINGS, COUCH HAMMOCKS, and REFRIGERATORS.

10% Special reduction from the already lowered Summer lines—REED, WILLOW, RATAN, and FIBRE CHAIRS, ROCKERS, SETTEES, and TABLES; LAWN SWINGS, COUCH HAMMOCKS, and REFRIGERATORS.

10% Special reduction from the already lowered Summer lines—REED, WILLOW, RATAN, and FIBRE CHAIRS, ROCKERS, SETTEES, and TABLES; LAWN SWINGS, COUCH HAMMOCKS, and REFRIGERATORS.

GARRISON TALKS ON ISLANDS PLAN

Confers With New Governor General of Philippines Upon Program.

Army officers and members of Congress are awaiting with interest the return to Washington of Secretary of War Garrison, who has been making a tour of army posts in the South and West. Before starting on the trip it was announced that Mr. Garrison's object was to gather data upon which to recommend to Congress the elimination of a large number of useless but expensive posts which, in the past, were established solely for political reasons. At the time it was predicted that the Secretary would meet with opposition in Congress.

Secretary Garrison has been gone from Washington more than six weeks. When he reaches New York today he will have completed his itinerary and will have visited and personally inspected practically every army post west of the Ohio and south of the Potomac. Before returning to Washington he will probably take a brief vacation at Ashbury Park.

Today in New York he was to have met and conferred with Francis Burton Harrison, who was sworn in here yesterday as the new governor general of the Philippines. The object of the conference is to take up administrative matters connected with the islands, and to discuss changes which would make for a speedy realization of President Wilson's desire to bring about Philippine independence. The two will also discuss the recent report made by Dean Worcester on alleged peonage in the islands.

Shares With Workers. YONKERS, N. Y., Sept. 3.—A large carpet concern here distributed $2,000 in bonuses to 3,500 employees. In three years the company has given employees $34,000 of its profits.

District Veterans Boom John L. Smith

Members of the District camps of the United Spanish War Veterans have re-elected John L. Smith as their commander-in-chief. He was elected to the position at the annual convention of the veterans held during the national encampment in Buffalo, which began today.

Mr. Smith's election would bring the headquarters of the big organization to this city.

House & Herrmann

WHEN IN DOUBT BUY OF
COR. 7th & EYE (1) STREETS, N.W.

The Store Hours Now Are 8 to 6 Daily

The Latest Improved Sewing Machines

The mission of a Sewing Machine is the lifting of the labor of hand work. But it must do that work with unerring skill—and without discrimination—the most delicate, as well as the coarsest sewing.

That reliability is what brings these Machines into highest favor. All these types—"Vibrator," "Rotary," and "Automatic"—are most competent and capable.

Some of the features. Two-thread double-lock stitch, giving the same effect on both sides.

Auto Tension Release; Auto Belt Replacer; Improved Bobbin Wind—labor-saving features.

Full-size sewing head, with high arm, which provides the needed room to easily handle all fabrics.

All case-hardened steel, parts are ground and fitted. The Cases are Quartered-sawn Oak, highly polished.

The Prices Range From $15 to $55

Terms of payment arranged to your convenience.

Most Convenient Sewing Table

Every housewife knows the advantages of a Sewing Table—and planned as these are, they give the hostess everything at hand.

Made of selected oak; carefully finished; designed on lines that will be acceptable to the present equipment of the dining-room.

The Usual Price $12.00

Would Be $16

10% Special reduction from the already lowered Summer lines—REED, WILLOW, RATAN, and FIBRE CHAIRS, ROCKERS, SETTEES, and TABLES; LAWN SWINGS, COUCH HAMMOCKS, and REFRIGERATORS.

Illustrating the Belvidere.

$31.50

Exactly as Illustrated.

10% Special reduction from the already lowered Summer lines—REED, WILLOW, RATAN, and FIBRE CHAIRS, ROCKERS, SETTEES, and TABLES; LAWN SWINGS, COUCH HAMMOCKS, and REFRIGERATORS.

10% Special reduction from the already lowered Summer lines—REED, WILLOW, RATAN, and FIBRE CHAIRS, ROCKERS, SETTEES, and TABLES; LAWN SWINGS, COUCH HAMMOCKS, and REFRIGERATORS.

10% Special reduction from the already lowered Summer lines—REED, WILLOW, RATAN, and FIBRE CHAIRS, ROCKERS, SETTEES, and TABLES; LAWN SWINGS, COUCH HAMMOCKS, and REFRIGERATORS.

10% Special reduction from the already lowered Summer lines—REED, WILLOW, RATAN, and FIBRE CHAIRS, ROCKERS, SETTEES, and TABLES; LAWN SWINGS, COUCH HAMMOCKS, and REFRIGERATORS.

10% Special reduction from the already lowered Summer lines—REED, WILLOW, RATAN, and FIBRE CHAIRS, ROCKERS, SETTEES, and TABLES; LAWN SWINGS, COUCH HAMMOCKS, and REFRIGERATORS.

OPENING GOLF BALL MAY COST HIS EYE

Stafford Hawken's Sight in Jeopardy From Sulphuric Acid in Core of Sphere.

Worried lest the unusual accident which befell his twelve-year-old son, Stafford Hawken, will rob the boy of the sight of his right eye, Samuel McCopas Hawken, Assistant United States Attorney for the District, spent most of the morning at the Emergency Hospital with the little patient, who is suffering great pain. Mrs. Hawken is grieving to the verge of a nervous collapse by the condition of her eye. "It will be several days at least before we will be able to determine whether the boy will lose his eye," said Dr. Charles Healy today. "We have a good chance to save the eye and are leaving no stone unturned."

Young Hawken had unraveled a golf ball when the acid in the center of it flew into his eye. It is said that golf balls contain sulphuric acid.

Nadine Face Powder (In Green Boxes Only) Keeps the Complexion Beautiful. Soft and velvety, and remains until washed off. It is pure, harmless. Money back if not entirely pleased. Purified by a new process. Prevents sunburn and return of discolorations. The increasing popularity. Buy it at the following places: Brunette, 50c by Toilet Counters or Mail.

NATIONAL TOILET COMPANY, Paris, Tenn.

FINEST QUALITY PLATE

FOR SALE On Our Platform AT THE TERMINAL CO. STORAGE AND ICE PLANT, 11th and E Sts. S. W.

In any quantity and at lowest prices. Send your wagons at any hour of the day. THE WASHINGTON MARKET COMPANY.

SUMMER RESORTS